

The Natural Freedom Summit ~ Speaker Guidelines & Tips

How does a summit work? A summit is a multi-day event with a curated lineup of speakers each day, usually 3 to 4 speakers per day. People who register through bigfootflorida.com/summit or naturalfreedoms Summit.com will receive email updates throughout the event, including when each day goes live. Upon registration, attendees also receive complimentary bonus gifts, including access to our previous summits, The End of Slavery Summit and The Liberator 2 Showcase.

What makes this summit unique? This summit is designed to bring together the wisdom of permaculture, voluntaryism, and other alternative ideas in a way that is clear, practical, and easy for the general public to understand. We enjoy hosting summits that build community and amplify both emerging and established creators, while also highlighting real-world impact with the newly created transparent nonprofit Bigfoot Nature Fellowship and our 5-acre demonstration community center, Bigfoot Food Forest, in the fast-growing Tampa, Florida area. To support the summit, we will invite audience donations, plant trees, and publicly thank supporters, and after the summit ends, we will seek additional reach through Brighteon University.

We Have 3 Main Topics/Categories Of Focus:

Natural Freedom / Natural Law / Voluntaryism / Unschooling / Civil Disobedience / Decentralization, etc.

Natural Health / Psychosomatics / Ecopsychology / Spirituality, etc.

Natural Farming / Permaculture / Stewardship / Self-Reliance, etc.

What do I do? You are a speaker for the summit, so just follow the easy steps on the next page. We encourage every speaker to share at least 3 practical action steps in their media, and ANY form of video media is welcome as long as it is created specifically for the summit. If you prefer not to create any media, you may choose to do an interview instead, usually around 1 hour or less. We are aiming for 100+ speakers, building on the success of our previous summits that featured 50+ and 70+ speakers, and our larger audience and content creation capacity make that goal very realistic. As the lineup grows, we'll also be able to reach out to bigger names. We recommend waiting to share your media on your own channel until the event is over, and you'll receive email updates about when the summit begins, or any livestreams and roundtables you can join.

Hello [Speaker Name],

I'm reaching out because I'm involved with The Natural Freedom Summit, a new action-oriented summit hosted by the same team behind The End of Slavery Summit, which featured David Icke, Mark Passio, Larken Rose, Derrick Broze, and over 50 other speakers.

This free summit is focused on practical, real-world change and includes free gifts for attendees. It's designed to be inspiring, useful, and grounded in real action, while also supporting meaningful projects in the real world.

I thought you might be a great fit, and I'd love to invite you to check it out and consider joining us. If you're interested, email their team BigfootNatureFellowship@gmail.com

Warmly, [Your Name]
